FIRE.—The alarm of fire, about half-past three o'clock resterday morning, was caused by the burning of a chimney on the premise of Mr. Marx Iseman, in King street, near Calhoun. The matter came up before the Mayor, and the owner, not having any excuse, nor being able to lay the blame on the chimney contractor, was fined ten dollars. Have your chimneys swept at once.

Sh this resolution pass, these who have paid the penalty will have that amount refunded.

PASS HIM AROUND .- We are requested to caution the public against dealing with Robert K. Hubbell, who is travelling through the South representing himself to be in the employment of firms in New York. The charges against Hubbell, as reported to us, are so serious that we feel warranted in printing this warning, and in asking the Southern press to give it a wide circulation.

A DIFFICULTY SETTLED.—The difficulty be tween Thos. Bamfield and Michael Blanch, which occurred at the head of the market on Saturday evening, was investigated yesterday before Trial Justice Magrath. IT "Wood" Nor Do .- Alex. Simons, a colored youth, took out a cartload of wood from a wood-yard in the upper part of the city, and instead of delivering it to the person to whom it was sent, carried it off and sold it to some one else. Aleck's little ruse was speedily discovered, and the perpertrator lodged in the Guardhouse. He was brought before the Mayor, yesterday morning, and after a hearing, was referred to a trial justice for exami-

FOUND DEAD IN HER BED .- Bridget Con'en. a white woman about forty-five years of age, was found dead in her bed on Sunday morning, at her residence, No. 27 America street. She had gone to bed apparently in good health the night before, and died quietly without alaming any of her household. An inquest was held over the body on Sunday s'ternoon and the jury, after hearing the evidence, returned a verdict of death "from the visitation of God."

Lost .- A colored drayman, (with a white mule,) name unknown, was entrusted with a trunk, bundle of bedding and two bags of potatoes to be conveyed to the Confederate Widows' Home, Broad street, yesterday morning. The hope is entertained that they were carried, by mistake, elsewhere. If such articles have been delivered at any other place in the city, it is respectfully requested that notice be given at the Home. The articles were

THE SHERIFF'S STORE SALE.—The sale of horses and mules resterday morning in front of the Courthouse, by the start of Beaufort County, under an emention was largely attended, and the animals brought good prices. The crowd alightly incommoded the passage along Meeting etreet, and the heel performance of several of the mules, under the influence of the spore worn by the ambitious young darkies saided of them, threatened serious burt to some of the crowd. No accidents, however, happened. dents, however, happened.

THE WRONG CHANGE .- Last evening the pro prietor of a store at the foot of Market street went out a few moments, leaving a colored youth named Ed. Gadsden in the store. Re turning soon after he found a tin can, where he usually kept his change, rifled of over five dollars in fractional ourrency, and Gadsden with a most innocent expression upon his features. faction of the venerable artist, Mr. C. Werner, As it stands, it is a finished piece of work, which reflects the highest credit upon the taste and skill of the designer and maker. The weather being propitious, the whole affair was photographed from the roof of a neighboring shed. It excited general admiration yesterday, and after remaining a short time, will be taken down preparatory to placing it in the exalted position which it is designed to occupy. DEATH FROM EXPOSURE. - An. inquest was held yesterday morning, at the City Hospital, over the body of a colored woman named Susan Gallard, who was found dead on Sun day morning, on a flat, in the creek at the corner of President and Line streets. She had gone on board of the flat (which was used for transporting shells) the night before to sleep, and was found dead next morning, in a small cuddy-hole about five feet square. A colored man, who was in company with her on the flat, was arrested and held. The last shipment of Langley Mills to New York of 4-4 etendard sheeting sold at twelve and a na'f evals, for export to California, which is, as we are icformed, one-half cent above any Southern manufactured goo's. This exhibit speaks well for the success of the Langley Company, and is another s'rong reason why the South should manufacture the raw material at home.

Marta at the Academy.

The Formes-Habelmann Opera Company made their debut at the Academy of Music, las night, in Flotow's opera, Marta. The audience was large, for a first performance, and full houses will, undoubtedly, greet the company now that their solld merit is known. Marta is not an opera about whose beauties amateurs rave, but its catching melodies and sparkling choruses have established it in the favor of the general public. It needs, however, to make it thoroughly effective, a carefully trained chorus and orchestra. In these points, the performance of Maria was somewhat weak, but both orchestra and chorus are of fair material and sufficient strength, and a few hours of steady re hearsal will give them much of the accord and precision which last night they needed. We do not hesitate to mention these short-comings, because the company of minor deficiencies to be well-nigh forgotten. The first act of the opera passed off rather tamely, although Mr. Habelmann (Lionel) sang his romanza charmingly; but the second act bordered upon an artistic triumph. The open ing quartette, the Spinning Wheel quartette (one of the gems of the opera, and only poorly applauded last night) and the delicious Gute Nacht were rendered with a grace and fervor which deserve hearty praise. M'ile Rosetti was compelled to repeat "The Last Rose of Summer," but her method and voice were shown to far more advantage in the other numbers of the scene, and in the finale to the third act. Her voice is not particularly strong in the upper register, but she sings with marked fluency and acts vivaciously. In the s condact Mr. Habelmann sang with a passionate force, which moved the whole audience, and his delivery of the tender M' Appara tutt amor (Act 3) won for him the honors of the evening-tumultuous applause and an unanimous encore. Mile. Dziuba has a pleasant voice, and acquitted herself handsomely. We hope to see ner in a role which gives more opportunities for bread contraito singing than that of Mr. Carl Formes, we need scarcely say, was full of life and vigor. His drinking song was splendidly sung, but it was not, strange to say, cordially received. As an actor Mr. Formes is still in his prime, and of the grand old voice there is enough left to serve half-adozen ordinary basses. The minor roles were satisfactorily filled, and the opera, as a whole, was as good a performance as Charleston is likely to see until the South has doubled her wealth and population. We are highly pleased with the company, which is the best this city has had since the war, and we hope that they will receive, in crowded houses, the support they so well deserve. To-night, Verdi's It Tropatore, of which the public never tire, will be presented, Mr. Beannard-making his debut as Manrico. We think that the street cars were not in waiting last night at the close of the performance. This we regard as trifling with the public, and as a direct and serious injury to the city. Whose fault is it that so small an accommodation as that of running two street cars at ten o'clock at night, on a special occasion, is not extended to the patient Charleston public ?

The Moulton Concerts. Mrs. Charles Moulton, the admired of Rossini, and the pet of New York Upper Tendom, will give two grand concerts at the Academy of Music on the 28th and 29th instant. THE METROPOLITAN POLICE BILL .- A petition against the passage of this bill lies in THE NEWS office for signature. The Pillsbury-Hendricks clique are endeavoring to persuade the Legislature that "the people" of Charleston are in favor of the till. It remains for all classes and colors to show, by their signatures, that they do not desire to be put under the rule of men who, when in authority, neglected the well-to-do, and beat and abused the poor. A strong memorial against the bill will kill it beyond peradventure. BUSINESS NOTICES.

PERSONAL -- Among the arriva's at the Mills House, we notice that of our young friend Dr. J S. Lawrence, of the large and thriving whole sale drug house of Lawrence & Weichselbaum, of Savannah. Dr. Lawrence has associated with him Mr. Jacob Welchselbaum, of Philadelphia a German chemist of superior knowledge and business capacity. They have already attained an enviable position, having placed themselves among the first drug houses of the South. Dr. Lawrence is here in the interest of their Arabian Bitters, a most pleasant and valuable tonic. Judging from his wide-awake mauner in attending to his business, we will no doubt hear of the same signal success of his efforts in our city that has always attended him in his undertakings elsewhere. Being s native of this State, he seems quite at home among our merchants. We understand his intends advertising the houses who take hold of their goods; so, we suppose, we will have the pleasure of inserting the cards of some of our most thorough-going men, in our next

The Vestry and Wardens, in regular month y meeting convened, having transacted their sual business, embrace the occasion to com memorate the death of the Bishop of the Diocese the Right Reverend Thomas Frederick Davis. At the time of his elevation to the Episcopal party pirit, with its natural point of undauntableness, was rife throughout the church. He had been only a few years in the diocese, was little known except in the comparatively small parish which enjoyed and appreciated h s services, and and never taken part in the discussions in the liocesan conventions; and when the office was conferred on him by a large vote, after repeated rials by the parties to elect their respective, favorites, he meetly excressed his accep ance of it saying he was unable to do more, as he felt "stunned as by a blow."
